Family Row, 3 Injured

An altercation at the home of a Daly City family Saturday night ended with three persons being hospitalized, two with bullet wounds and a woman with a broken arm.

Police said Leone Keitt, 42, of San Francisco, visited the home of his former wife and her husband at 32 West Market Street about 6 p.m.

During his visit a three-way argument erupted and Keitt allegedly pulled a .38-calibre revolver and shot his ex-mate's husband, James Henry, 27, in the right foot, whereupon a struggle ensued and the gun discharged again, hitting Keitt in the abdomen.

Mrs. Lois Marie Henry jumped out a window during the fight, breaking her left arm.

Keitt was reported in satisfac tory condition today at Mary's Help Hospital. Mrs. Henry was recovering at Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco and her present husband was being treated for a bullet wound at Kaiser Hospital in San Francis-

No charges have been filed and the case is still under invesligation, police said.

Meanwhile, several hours and several blocks away from the scene of the Saturday night incident, police were called to the scene of another shooting involving two brothers.

State Auditors' Report Won't Be Topic in JESD, Additional Time Needed

A state auditors' report for the Jefferson Elementary School District conducted several weeks ago will not be discussed at the Board's regular meeting tonight although it is included on the original agenda.

It was explained that the state auditors needed additional time to compile the report and the matter has been postponed. The regular meeting of the board will be held starting at 8 p.m. in the City Hall Council Chambers, 90th and Sullivan Avenues, Daly City. One of the major issues to be discussed at the meeting will be renewal and-or continuation of the current recreation contract between Daly City and the district.

The district budgets money each year to Daly City to carry on the recreation program at various school yards around the community The decision to modify, terminate or continue the contract must be given to the city before April 1. Also on the agenda tonight is the presentation of the district's preliminary budget.

The "community action" team from the Center for Better Living (North County Mental Health) Citizens Advisory Committee have joined with senior citizens of Daly City and South San Francisco, students from Skyline College and Westmoor High School, and other groups to push the city council in South San Francisco and Daly City to form transportation commissions.

Their specific demands are that both cities improve public service. develop inter-city transfers, provide benches and shelters, lower fare for senior citizens and develop bus connections with Bay Area Rapid Transit District stations.

In February, representatives met with George Ferris, general manager of Northgate Transit Co. and Richard Silver, public relations director, to discuss mutual problems. Northgate operates in South San

Birchers See Threat of Dictatorship in New Federal Law

Mr. Businessman watch out Your livelihood is being jeopardized. Because a new federal law ostensibly created to protect the health and safety of employees has the potential of killing free enterprise.

.This, at least, is the position of the John Birch Society; a fact which, in itself, undoubtedly will have many pooh-poohing the

But the John Birch Society is very sincere about the implications of Public Law 91-569. signed into law on December 29.

Also known as the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, it went into effect April 28, 1971

It is, for John Birch Society members, part of an overall conspiracy to rule the world by an elite and select group of tinancially powerful "insiders."

"Most Americans are being kept totally ignorant of the conspiratorial organizations whose members have set the same leftist policies for the past 10 years," says Gary Allen, contributing editor to the conserva-American Opinion magazine.

lowing carefully laid plans for our convergence with the Soviet Union as a base for a dictatorial government of the world.

"Perhaps the nexus of this organized subversive effort in America is an establishmentlevel organization known as the council on Foreign Relations. suggests Allen, who goes on to describe the CFR, its membership and what he believes to be its historical role of trying to establish a one-world government. Sound far-fetched? Not to Ron

Rost, of 219 Verona Avenue, Pacifica. The San Francisco native, who wears his light brown hair in a crew cut, graduated from the now generally considered liberal San Francisco State College, and played outfield for three years with the Boston Red Sox Farm Club, is a co-founder of the Pacifica Chapter of the Society

"We (John Birch members) can document everything we say," responds the 40-year-old vending business salesman. The Vallemar (staunch John Birch bastion of Pacifica) resident maintains a complete "American Opinion Library" at his home, noting that people must read these volumes to understand the John Birch position. And, he defies anyone who has read this literature to prove the John Birch position wrong.

"We (John Birch members) have the worst reputation of any organization in the history of our country." Root admits candidly "But the question is whether it's deserved or falsely created. We feel strongly about individuality. We believe in limited government, and are true middle-of-the-roaders by the true political spectrum.

"All we're trying to do." says Root, "is to get people to acknowledge the fact that there is a whole half of the story they've never heard. This (OSHA, as the legislation has been acronymized) is part and parcel toward a totalitarian government. Fighting it is one of our top priorities right now.'

A reading of Public Law 91-569 says that its purpose is "to assure safe and healthful working conditions for working men and women; by authorizing enforcement of the standards developed under the act; by assisting and encouraging the states in their efforts to assure safe and healthful working conditions; by providing for research, information, education, and training in the field of occupational safety and health; and for other purposes.

Root prefers to refer to what he calls "our basic piece of material" used to attack OSHA. It is a reprint from American Opimagazine title d "OSHACRATS" and subtitled "Mr. Businessman, The Buck Stops With You.'

The author is Alan Stang, also a contributing editor to the conservative publication.

Stang's article definitely has sting, asking questions the John Birch members feel have not been adequately answered. Yet the sting obviously isn't being felt by OSHA people, who take the entire John Birch Society effor with a non-concerned shrug. if Mike Wagner is any yards-

Wagner, an OSHA compliance officer tone who makes sure businesses comply with the regulations) in the San Francisco Federal building on McAllister Street, said simply: "If they want to change it, they'll have to change it by an act of con-

that the act applies to every employer in the United States, exgovernment employes. "Which means," points out Stang, "that the government is exempt from the law it is imposing on private business. Wagner, a husky 25-year-veteran of the maritime industry. admits the law so specifies. He said, however, that the president has since issued an executive order to the effect that all federal agencies will have to comply with the provisions of the act. He said states can participate with joint federal support requiring a plan "at least as effective as the federal law."

Stang noted that OSHA allows a compliance officer "to force himself unannounced into somebody's business — without a warrant - and force the owner to produce proof that he has not violated the act.

To this charge. Wagner says Congress "in infinite wisdom" recognized the need for no advance notice. "The purpose obviously is voluntary compliance." he said, citing a parallel of the Highway Patrol Officer.

"A person knows he can go at a specified speed, and if he viol-ates that limit, he can be ticketed unannounced," said Wagner. He contends that if advance notice were sgiven of OSHA inspections. The business being inspected would have time to "sweep under the rug" any overt violations.

Wagner pointed out that there are instances where advance notice is given; such as where or if a certain factory process is only performed during certain hours, and a health hazard is believed to exist. Inspection would have to be during those hours. Stang poses another question of civil rights, as far as the complying businessman is concerned. Under the act. an emp'oye may request anonymity when reporting an alleged violation of health or safety conditions to the government. The article author again strikes at the "liberals" for not denouncing this aspect of the act for what he sees as a violation of the constitutional right for an individual to confront his accuser.

Wagner picked up a "standard complaint form." which notes the option of revealing the name. "Under the law we have to protect that anonymity." he said, handing it to this reporter.

He added (contrary to what Stang claims) that former employes are not considered valid complaints, "and 50 percent (of the complaint forms taken out) are never completed or returned." said Wagner.

Ah, Welcome Spring! You seem long overdue this

Whether it is a lull brought on by the end of wind, rain and freezing cold and the prospect of sunny days or, if it is just that period on the religious calendar that requires a time of quiet preparation for Jewish Passover or Christian Easter, this week's activity schedule is rather light.

Despite the garbled paragraph in this space last week, the members of the Florence Crittenton North Peninsula Auxiliary are preparing to welcome almost a dozen prospective new members to today's gathering in the meeting room in Breuner's Serramonte store at 10:30 a.m.

(Apologies are due all who were confused by last week's story that indicated the board meeting in the Hillsborough home of the Arthur Colman family was the general meeting and would convene in the Breuner's store!

Mrs. Ethel Seiderman, supervisor of the Infant Day Care Center in the Florence Crittenton Home. will be today's guest speaker, according to Mrs. Richard McClain, auxiliary president.

Mrs. Charles Poggio, chairman of the Carson City trip. reports that two buses have been completely sold out for the April 1 jaunt to The New Ormsby House in Carson City. The Crittenton Home will receive the proceeds from this full day of fun in Nevada and delightful sightseeing in the Tahoe basin.

THE MEMBERS of the Riordan Guild will enjoy a luncheon and games party today in the high school's Chaminade Hall on Phelan Avenue in San Francisco, according to Mrs. Richard Otis, the guild's publicity

Tickets, costing $3, will be sold at the door this morning, starting at 11:30 o'clock, Mrs. Otis empha-

Mrs. Albert Balistreri, chairman of the event, has arranged for 12 games and a hot luncheon. A wonderful supply of prizes have been obtained and the party committee is hopeful that many members of the community will take advantage of this opportunity to share a delightful afternoon with friends and guild members.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Paul Burkett (664-6137) or Mrs. Martin Hughes (564-0133)

FRIENDS OUTSIDE has issued an appeal for food staples to refill the larder in the office at 3101 Nineteenth Avenue. Sugar, flour, jello, cereals, rice and canned goods are in short supply for the families of men and women in prison or jail.

Donations may be left in the office or information obtained by calling 661-6900.

MARCH 23 will be a busy day for members of the Bignardi. Patricia Byrne. Mary's Help Hospital Guild.

turns out all those delightful favors for the travs of patients, is hoping for a large turnout of helpers when the workshop committee begins construction of Easter favors at 10:30 .am. in the solarium.

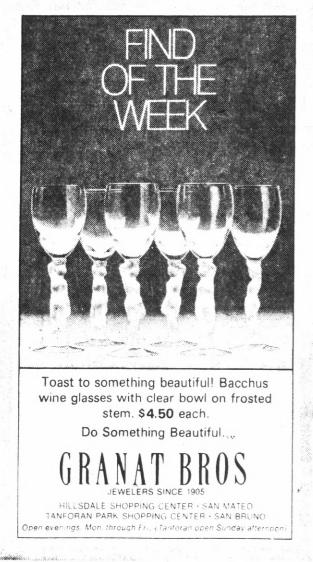

The executive board will be meeting at the same hour and, beginning at 12:30 p.m., there will be a luncheon for members and their guests in the solarium with the business meeting to follow.

Sure to be discussed during the meeting is the fine community response to the Day at the Races scheduled for next Tuesday. Annually the guild sponsors a day of fun at Golden Gate Fields for members and friends of the guild to raise money for the hospital's coronary care unit, and, as is usual, this year's outing, chaired by Mrs. Frank Lawson, is a sellout event.

COLLEGE DAY at San Mateo College is being planned by the members of the Fifty Plus Club of Pacifica, according to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president of the seniors' unit

This will be the third time the Pacifica group has been the guest of the college for a luncheon and a program of entertainment by the college students.

The object of the annual get-togethers, according to Mrs. Cálhan, is to prove that the only age barrier exists in the minds of a few people.

Especially any kind of mishap to little Don or Kay as a result of accidental poisoning.

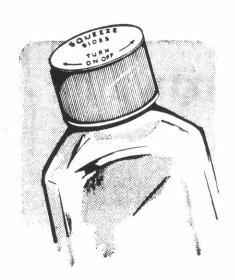

Walgreens child-saver prescription vials and bottles are designed to help prevent just such a tragedy.

And now Walgreens introduces the new Safety Over-Cap for liquid prescriptions. Again, you can open it, tots can't.

Year after year, we're always seeking new ways to keep your family safe.

We're dedicated to making National Poison Prevention Week last fifty-two weeks a year!

P.S. Even with our safety-capped containers, please do keep them out of children's sight, out of reach.

NEW REALIST ARTIST James Torlakson portrays Westlake in several of his latest etchings and water colors currently being shown at Gump's of San Francisco. Above is a reproduction of an aquatint etching called "Riviera on Beechwood," an unmistakably Westlake scene. As a New Realist, Torlakson deals with urban and suburban images in a hyper-real manner, finding as much aesthetic potential in mundane or everyday subjects as in the more stereotypically beautiful subject matters. It is this quality in ordinary subject matters, which he emprasizes in his drawings, etchings, water colors and oils.

Bruno Fava is well equipped to accommodate private banquets, luncheons and dinners at his Bruno's in downtown San Mateo. Besides the actual physical facilities, a definite plus for any group is Bruno's special prices. A wide selection of menu items is available for large or small gatherings . . . As everyone knows, food prices, particularly for meat, are bordering on the outrageous. Accordingly, most restaurants have already or are intending to raise menu prices. But this is not true at Chuck's Steak House in San Mateo, where quality steak dinners are still n the popular price range. It is our understanding that the management here has no intention of raising their prices . . . Although a new parking lot was added a couple of years ago, it's still sometimes difficult to find a parking space during the lunch hours at the Leaning Tower. One reason being that scores of local business executives gather at this South San Francisco restaurant to discuss projects of the day during luncheon. Not many restaurants bustle at mid-day like this Ercoli brothers' operation.

One thing for sure, Martay is not shy about talking about the quality of his food . . . Although Italian a la carte dinners are considered to be the specialty at Woodlake Joe's, the extensive menu offers a wide selection of other favorite items — fish, chicken, steaks and many sandwiches, as well as a choice of eggs and omelettes. A contingent of angry parents trooped to Sacramento the other day to check on just why his credentials are under investigation. Dr. Fowler shrugs off the credentials matter as just another case of character assassination by a small minority out to get him. The puzzle is why would anvone want to "get him?" Is there a plot underway? Or do those parents whose children were on the receiving end of Dr. Fowler's strict disciplinary policies, which included stripping nude a boy in search for a ring and paddling a few other kids, have a gripe coming?

Apparently Greenwood and school trustees Albert Collett. James Cranna and Edward Tomasello don't think so-at least not enough to give Dr. Fowler the boot when they had the opportunity to do so.

DR. FOWLER INSISTS that the children tow the mark on his policies at the school. This is good. And. of course, one would hope Dr. Fowler will himself set an example of obeying the "Rules of the Road" so to speak. The male majority of the board, at Greenwood's insistence, let Dr. Fowler off the hook with a written reprimand and a "watchdog" in the form of an assistant to look over his shoulder each step of the difficult path he must now walk as principal at the

If the audit report is floating around the district why doesn't the news media and the public get a rundown on it? We're betting Mr. Cranna plucked that one right out of the air, that the report has not been received in the district.

'I Am Me Again!'

"I am me again!" That is how Senora Teresa Villavicencio feels after a recent operation in which a chronic and painful leg ulcer was excised and skin grafted.

According to Dr. Paul Pitlyk. a former Navy surgeon and presently a member of the Mary's Help Hospital medicaldental staff, who first discovered Teresa in Mexico last year, "Without the operation she would have been chronically disabled with a long-standing ulcer and it's possible she could have lost the leg even-

For 14 years, Senora Villavicencio carried out her daily chores in the sungrenched barren flats of Baja California as the ulcer enlarged in size. Acting as both mother and father to her nine children, there was no time to take care of her own problem.

It wasn't until early in 1972 that Teresa even saw a physi-

As Dr. Pitiyk explains. When you are poor in Mexico. there is no medical treatment available." Knowing this, the Flying Samaritans, an airborne medical charity group, chose the isolated Baja for their week-end clinics. Even with four clinic sites in Baja California. Teresa and her family had to wake up at 3 a.m. to catch a bus to the clinic. The bus ride was only a beginning to an even longer trip Teresa would have to take before her pain would end.

WHEN MONTHLY treatments on the leg proved fufile. Dr. Pitlyk began to spread word of the problem to his peers in Daly City. It wasn't long before the whole hospital became involved in Teresa's plight.

Surgeon Dr. Donald Wald volunteered to perform the operation with assistance donated by Dr. Denis Franklin from the Department of General Practice and Dr. Gordon Cless from the Department of Anesthesiology. Mary's Help Hospital made ready a room free of charge for the patient from Mexico.

What might have been the biggest problem: transportation turned out to be non-existent. Through the generosity of PSA, Teresa was flown to the United States free of charge. She was as excited about her first plane ride as she was about the upcoming operation.

Teresa, who speaks only Spanish, was made to feel at home in Mary's Help Hospital when Barbara Richman, Eligibility Interviewer in the Outpatient Clinic, and Sister Dolores Gonzalez, head of the Community Liaison Department, visited her regularly. Ms. Richman had spent 6 years in a small Mexican village and both she and Sr. Dolores speak fluent. Spanish.

After leaving the Hospital, Teresa has spent several weeks recuperating in the home of Gene and Kay Mulligan in Palo Alto.

Dr. Wald feels the infection on her leg was 100 percent cured by the skin graft opera-

THE WEEK-END she was allowed to walk for the first time after the operation, the Mulligans hosted a fiesta in her honor. Her new friends from America were all invited, but entertainment sounded just like home. Musicians from Bolivia, Paraguay, Brazil and Mexico played through the evening. There was dancing for everyone. For the first time in many years, Teresa was asked to dance and she did just that, with no sign of a limp and no pain. "She looked radiant," commented Sister Dolores.

She has been overwhelmed by the generosity of her California friends. Sister Dolores explains "She feels like she is being made vounger and more beautiful. She no longer has an ugly scarred leg. and the Mulligans arranged for extensive dental repair work. Dr. Bernard Aarons, a Palo Alto dentist, was very generous with his time and services. She keeps telling everyone that she can't wait to get home and walk through town.'

The Mulligans are still look ing for a source of PhsoHex. an antibacterial skin cleanser which Teresa will need to use regularly even after she returns to Mexico. "She needs so much to insure that the infection will not return. We are confident that some medicine will be donated. After all, we have had such a warm response for everything else. The Hydrojet Company of Palo Alto donated the whirlpool treatment center we use at our house for her daily baths. Otherwise, she would have had to go daily to the hospital for treatments. And Hittenburgers fit her with a special elastic hose she will have to wear for the rest of her life. People have just been wonderful!

Teresa thinks so too. She hasn't stopped thanking her new friends since she arrived and thanking God for answering her prayers.

Master Cooks With Recipes

With meat prices rising out of sight we have become like the Shakespearean character who cried over his vegetarian dinner. "Peas and beans are as dank here as a dog.

But, to our relief come the master cooks, Alan Hooker among them, with recipes that make peas and beans and even cabbage a delight to eat. Mr. Hooker's book. "Vegetarian Gourmet Cookery." was produced because of the nightmares he experienced when he became a vegetarian.

SO HERE YOU ARE: Have green bean stew, Pennsylvania style. Mr. Hooker calls it an excellent dish Or there's tamale pie or pecan loaf or Essie's chestnut casserole with layers of chestnuts, onions, cheddar cheese, and mushrooms. How about sauer-kraut and choplets, or tomato and celery casserole, or chop sugy and sauce, or almond croquettes? Swiss cheese pie sounds good. Have some curried mushrooms and eggs cooked in milk. Such dishes made Clifton Fadiman hail. "Milk's leap toward immorality." There are ten chapters in Mr. Hooker's book to take the misery out of meatless meals.

One book of recipes that has become an old standby is Boyta Wooding's "Leftovers Cookbook." Under Ms. Wooding's direction, even a soggy potato becomes a delecable cake; the remains of Sunday's roast become de icious again; even the flavor of old and cold vegetables is resurrected.

FOR ANOTHER CHAPTER on leftovers in Better Homes and Gardens' "Blender Cook Book," entitled "Famil Pleasing Leftovers." the chapter speaks of the glores of stroganoff loaf and ham fiesta rolls and tells have to create them. For last week's leftover chicken how about chicken croquettes, or chicken curry, ore hicken-cheese casserole? Paul Revere sandwiches Milize leftover pork or chicken or turkey while blender barbecue beef uses up every bit of the precious food. "The Blender Cook Book" has sections on mealtime shortcuts, party foods and drinks, and even special diet helps.

"201 New Ways to Cook Ground Beef" is an all time best seller among cookbooks. Its recipes are easy to follow and do show that a pound of hamburger can feed a family. Resembling it somewhat is "The College Kid's Cookbook" by Marion Hodgson and Better Homes and Gardens' "Easy Skillet Meals."

Kay Sullivan's "McCalls Book of Wonderful One-Dish, Meals" is a surefire help in winning the price war. Other helpers are "The Tuna Cookbook" by Sheila Metcalf. "The Casserole Cookbook" by Elizabeth Sewell, Mel Marshall's "The Delectable Egg," and Robin Hawe's "Soups."

BETTER HOMES and Gardens has published a series that tells of ways to cook chicken, turkey, ducks, "fish, and seafood. Their "Good Food On A Budget" is always in demand. Then there's Victor Bennett's "The Complete Bean Cookbook.

If all of these don't help, there is Jocasta Innes' 'The Pauper's Cookbook" and Ben Charles Harri's "Eat the Weeds.

With such resources let no one become like one of Shakespeare's characters, "Poor fellow! Never joyed since the price of oats rose; it was the death of him.'

Vike Spikes' Big Win

Mills High's track team is mighty short of seniors, but apparently the Vikings won't need experience to contend for the Mid-Peninsula League title.

Thursday the Vikes piled up by far the best set of marks recorded by a Mid-Peninsula League team this season in taking a big win from San Mateo. 87-49. It was a great way to open league competition.

In other meets Crestmoor topped Hillsdale 75-61 and Aragon beat Capuchino 80-56. Mills' hottest junior, Bill Giavia. won the 220, the high hurdles and the high jump, and had sterling marks in the latter two.

He ran 14.9 in the hurdles and high jumped 6-4.

Larry Jones came down to a great 19.6 in the nurdles (no wind) and also took the 100 in 10.4.

San Mateo got a good effort from Brad Dauer in the two mile (9:48.1). Mills ceach Ed Parker had been trying an experiement with distance man Ian Burnett that is apparently meeting with wild success. He has Burnett doing half-miles and miles in an effort to shorten his stride. Burnett responded with a 1:59.9 half (the best local half this year) and a 4:26.0 miles.

Mills ran a creditable 44.8 440 relay and San Mateo took the mile relay with a fair 3:35.3.

The frosh-soph meet, by the way, was almost as good, relatively speaking.

Hillsdale's Luther Jackson had a pair of dandy duels with Crestmoor's Bill Wevers. Jackson also won the high jump (5-10).

Crestmoor did a 44.6.0 relay. The Falcons' Ray Watts doubled in the 440 (51.2) and 220 (22.8). Hillsdale's Brad Parks took the pole vault at 12-6.

Aragon didn't have a whole lot of trouble. Cap did 3:34.4 in the mile relay and Aragon's Bill Popin did the quarter in 52.5.

That may explain what happened with Hubbell in Detroit. Hubbeil was obtained by Detroit from Oklahoma City after the 1925 season, in which Hubbell had won 17 games. But after two spring training sessions with the Tigers, Hubbell hadn't pitched one inning of so much as an exhibition game. Even the Giants didn't pick him up then. He was released outright to Beaumont, where he won 12 games in half a season, and was then brought up by the Giants in mid-season of 1928, when he stepped right into the rotation and won 10 games.

KING CARL TAUGHT himself the screwball during spring training with Oklahoma City in 1925. Right-handed hitters had been wearing him out and, because the high priced pitching coaches kids have nowadays didn't then exist, he started searching for an answer himself.

There was an old left-hander then pitching who didn't throw hard but who had won over 20 games the year before, and who seemingly owned right-handed hitters. He had a sinking fastball which he could continually spot to the low outside corner of the plate against righties, makinghthem hit it on the ground to the left side of the infield.

"I thought, gee, that's easier than what I've been doing, trying to blow it by them," relates Hubbell, "so I thought to myself that I had to come up with some sort of a special weapon for right-hander. So I started turning the ball over, and the Westmoor 99, El Camino 37

> WHAT DOES HUBBELL think of modern day baseball? "It's in a turmoil now, you never know what to expect. Years back it was solid, and you always knew what to expect. But then, baseball just reflects the times. Everyting is in a turmoil, many businesses don't know what to expect next. It's just a different time. not better or worse, just different."

One thing about modern baseball Hubbell definitely doesn't ike is the AL's designated pinch-hitter rule. "I think maybe it's too drastic a change. Records mean a lot in baseball, and with such rules changes, you'll have to throw all the records out. Then too, baseball has always been the sport that requires the most complete athlete. Such specialization could remove that factor from the game.

"I also feel that you must be in the whole game, feel the ebb and flow of it to be able to hit properly.

"I don't imagine being a DPH would be too satisfying a job. It will be like pinch-hitting four times a day. Then too, some otherwise good hitters make poor pinch-hitters. Willie Mays, for example. was not a good pinch-hitter.

"They're going to find out that some of those sluggers they think are really going to be helped by the rule are not going to

TO CONCLUDE Interview I, we asked Hubbell, as we always playoffs and possible league ask athletes, what the funniest thing was that he ever saw on a ball field. Hubbell leaned back in his swivel chair, thought hard, and then said. "To tell you the truth, I don't remember funny the Godfathers, 86-52. Andre things ever happening, I took baseball so seriously, nothing Wilder continued on his 20 plus seemed to be comical. It maybe had something to do with Mcways as he scored 25 for the Graw. You had better not laugh on the field when you played for winners. Jose Arenas scored 18 h.m. And even when you won and were in the clubhouse, you and Lou Gomez 15 to contribute could never laugh it up too much in front of McGraw.

Many of the more than 150 parents threatened to boycott the school and keep their children home after hearing the decision to keep Fowler on the

Since the controversy first came up at a public meeting three weeks ago, the community and board has been split over the issue.

Fowler was accused of breaking a child's wrist by striking her with a ruler: of stripping a young boy who is undergoing treatment for a psychological disorder in search for a missing wedding ring; of administering corporal punishment to other children without a witness attending such sessions (violation) of the Education Code), and; of 20 counts of "unprofessional conduct," lodged by the California Teachers' Association.

It was the second public hearing on the Fowler issue.

The principal had requested the matter be held in public. but several of his supporters balked at camera lights at the Wednesspecial meeting, asking they be turned off.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood declared. "this is a public hearing and not a show for the news media." supported Fowler and asked the board to drop the charges.

the two offices. While many of the charges leveled by a representative of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association and concerned parents were the same as those previously made regarding Fowler's discipline policies, several new accusations were contained in the JCTA complaint

Included in the JCTA list of 20 complaints was Fowler's offer to hypnotize staff members and members of the P-TA.

San Bruno's planning commissioners will have the services of an architectural consultant to critique plans submitted to them concerning future development of the city's remaining developable lands.

The City Council agreed to the proposal at Monday night's meeting after learning that the $300 limit per project would be paid for by the developer through an increase in fees to the city from $50 to $350. This all pertains to developments of one acre in size or larger.

Jack Mulqueeney, city planner, told the council that he has revised the city's fee schedule for all other fees, and will submit it for approval at the next council session.

Mulqueeney said that San Bruno has approximately 120 acres of vacant land zoned for planned development, "and a significant portion of this land is expected to be used for high-rise office buildings.'

He said that although the planning commissioners and staff can interpret the zoning ordinance as it applies to proposed office buildings, "we have found it difficult to archtecturally visualize the setting of these office buildings in the community."

According to Mulqueeney, there is a difficulty in determining how each high-rise building will relate to previously constructed buildings, and how these buildings will relate to nearby residential uses.

With this in mind, the commissioners and staff made the request to contract with an architect experienced in the design and construction of high-
